

339-1000
A little bit of time

A little bit of time is all i ask to make sure that i have it right
Sometimes i worry it's all wrong
Sometimes i think i'll have to fight

But in the end i know deep down
That time in fact it matters not Perfection isn't what i seek Perfection isn't what i thought

And now i see the world so clear
It isn't in fact time at all
That makes a difference in the end
That keeps me standing lest i fall

The time i so believed i need
Is limitless when bathed in love
A second or indeed a year
All is really time enough

So now i do not ask for time
I do not search for moments more
I simply say i love you so
I love you all to my core