Afterward

I am convinced
More than ever before
That here is no such thing
As afterward
After what?
After holding each other so close
After wading in rivers with mud tween our toes
After sharing a walk through the city at dawn or after such silence when the children are gone
I am convinced
More than ever before
That there is no such thing
As afterward
For it's all one moment
Encased in one's heart
Every experience
Is simply a part
Of a whole
Of a moment in life
That could be forever
And so i never ever
Believe in
An afterward
Only a series of timeless events
That form
One work of art
One masterpiece
One
One
