Before we lose the darkness

What must we do
Before we lose the darkness
Before we live above the clouds
And always in the light
What must we do
Before the stars blink empty
Before all joy evaporates
In the endless night

The answer does not lie within
All reflection and all thought
We needn't sit upon the couch
As so many have been taught
What must we do
Before we lose the darkness

It is plain
It is clear
We must go insane
We must away steer

From all we know
From all we are

And pray
And pray
