

503-1000
Birth, day

Today is the day when I am reborn it is not the day when I will cease to mourn
Each and every day
I want to be open to what my heart hears the winds say
So for what its worth
On this day of my rebirth
I weep my tears for those who have been torn Away too soon, too soon
Birth, day

Today is the day when i rise with the sun it is not the day when from my sorrow i will run
Each and every day
I want to be open to what i hear the sun say
So please hear my rhyme
On this the very first day of my time
I weep my tears because we cannot change what has become, undone
Too soon, too soon
Birth, day

Today is the day when my heart overflows
For what this day bestows
Each and every day
I want to be open, open
And Today is the day
It is my birth, day
Every day