

85-1000
But, i grinned

When you called to tell me your old friend bill had died
I jumped in the car and drove all night
It's not that i cared all that much about your buddy bill
When i pulled in at the first light
We grabbed a bite at the local waffle house
Headed back to your place
I showered and donned my only tie and jacket
Wiped one tear from your perfect face

At the funeral you wept in silence
I gripped your fingers between mine
I feigned empathy with you in your sorrow
But truly i felt fine
And as you leaned gently on my shoulder
That's when many would say i sinned
For as they rolled the casket down the aisle
You cried, but i grinned

Because...

I grin
When you need me
I win
I know i'm greedy
No one saw
My smiling face
Thanks to bill
Your heart i'll chase
I grin
When i'm wanted
I know deep down
My soul is haunted
But if you
Will love me again
It doesn't matter
I will grin
