The dark of early morn

They say it's always darkest
Just before the dawn
Just before ignition
the rising of the sun
But isn't it so true
That the sun is always there
Even when it's midnight
And there's sorrow in the air
Just because you cannot see it
In the darkness of the morn
Somewhere on this spinning rock
Sparkles sols adorn
So next time you're out walking
And the nighttime doth surround
And the noises in the distance
Strike an eery sound
Remember that the sun is always
Shining on this earth
Remember that somewhere in the night
A new mother does give birth
And so my precious do not feel
Afraid of the darkness of the morn
For every moment gives us
One more moment to be reborn
