

145-1000
Eager fatalism

I never quite believed in a world determined by fate
To me it is chaos that reigns supreme
Am I fated to die in a terrorist attack
Or simply from eating too many crispy cremes

Fatalism is the realm of the religious
Or those who worship crystals and trees
Me i find entropy the ruler of the world
Heck i could get killed by a swarm of bees

Someday i want to write a screenplay or perhaps a one act play
All about alternative realities
An episode of star trek even though the show is dead
Like the one in which joan collins meets her demeseese

I don't believe in fate
Take a minute and just wait
Your predictions are all late
Maybe that is fate