Is the well endless

I didnt know i had this many tears inside me
This really cant be right
The sadness wont let go and i never feel free
No matter how i fight
Im scared that i may never feel
Completely whole again
The autumn seems so far away
And I miss my friend

I didn't know it could hurt this much
No one told me so
The sorrow that i feel today
That only i can know
The winter may be beautiful
But the darkness feeds this pain
And all the tears i daily shed
Just feel as though in vain

But just the other day i saw
The sunrise through trees
There was a lightness in the air
The smell of spring was in the breeze
And deep inside my heart i felt
An spaciousness so sweet
That tears welled up inside my eyes
And settled on my cheek

For now i know that while i weep
For all those that i grieve
I also shed these tears of joy
And thus i do believe
That yes this well is endless
It will never run dry
And what makes me most whole of all
Are all these tears i cry
