Eternal darkness

I know that my irreverence can get me in a bind
So now I keep my mouth shut, try not to be unkind
But It's hard to contain myself when you invoke the lord
I may seem apathetic, but I'm not please be assured

So while I'll smile at you and accept your true belief
When you exit I will feel a great sense of relief
For I believe religion is a scourge upon the earth
And peace will only come when people recognize their worth

And thus I have a very different view of judgement day
I believe it shouldn't be seen with so much dismay
The people will be judged by one another, for doing right
And I'll find love through reason, it's my journey toward the light

Eternal darkness, ha ha ha
Fire and brimstone blah blah blah
Boils and locusts, Yay hooray!
I can't wait for judgement day
