

213-1000

(It'll happen) faster than you think

One minute coherent
The next minute confused
One minute laughing and joking seeming so amused
And in a brief instant
The words they will not come
It'll happen faster than you think
And suddenly its done

I'm watching my father
Fall into that abyss
No more movies by mel brooks
Just a forehead and a kiss
Lying in a hospital bed
Body folding up
It'll happen faster than you think
So remember to drink up

The story is instructive
Each one of us should know
The end awaits with open arms
There's nowhere else to go
And when we least expect it
When we're in our prime
In a blink we're all alone
We call it such a crime

So drink up while the cup is full
Don't tarry with your worry
Death will come a knocking soon
The reaper's in a hurry
Revel in each moment
Don't you ever blink
For just like my dad who knows it well
It'll happen faster than you think
