Forgive me my old friend

Please forgive me my old friend
I think about you less and less
Your face becomes a distant haze
I conjure thoughts of younger days
When we would run around and play
With our toys
We were such a happy boys
And we were robbed of innocence
By adulthoods dark pretense
And when you passed I felt such grief
The months that followed in disbelief
And years
Less tears
Until a day came
When you never crossed my mind
So
Forgive me my old friend
I suppose this marks the very end
Of time
When we
Are no longer part of memory
Though the air we breathed still exists
I can see you not
And so forgive me
Forgive me
And goodbye
