Go get some answers

How can I go get the answers
When the questions are unclear
How can i live freely and unhesitatingly
When my heart is wrapped in fear
How can i travel the world over
When the reaper feels so near
How can i get the answers
When the questions are unclear

How can i get the answers
When i don't know what to ask
Seems just making it day to day
Is enough of a task
T'would that i the warrior's courage
And in the vapor i could bask
How can i get the answers
When i don't know what to ask

How can i get the answers
When the time is growing late
Perhaps dying without knowing
Is everybody's fate
I simply want to sail the seas
A story to create
But how can i get the answers
When the time is growing late

How can i get the answers
When mystery is our creed
Just let go and roam the earth
I have a soul to feed
And jump on any road
No sense where it might lead
I suppose that is the answer after all
To not know where we might be call home
