Goodness Know

Goodness knows, why I wake up every morn scarcely able to catch my breath, and feeling so forlorn

Goodness knows, why I am riddled with self doubt superficial to the core, talents I will tout

Goodness knows, why I cannot understand People who find pleasure in simply holding someone's hand

Goodness knows, why my character is thus Positive attention is an existential must

Truth is goodness doesn't know I've spent a lifetime on the go
And I know myself quite well Goodness me
There is nothing more to tell
