

HOW THEY HIDE

she drinks her chardonnay from an old coffee mug (A, D, E - like 'i'm not your man') she thinks that we don't notice her propensity to chug she retreats to the kitchen for another faux joe we pretend not to see her, wobble as she goes he watches his porno on his laptop during lunch he acts like he's working on a big deadline crunch he thinks that we don't notice as he leers at the screen the reflection from his eyeballs is fantastically obscene he gobbles his painkillers every hour without fail his eyes tell the story, he is gazing through a veil he thinks we don't notice his complaints about his bac yet he's only 37, just had his 2nd heart attack she meets with her lover at the motel down the street she says she has a meeting but she's really just in heat she thinks we don't notice when she kisses her husband's cheek that her lover took some pictures and we all got a sneak peak oh how they hide, hide from each other (Bm E) oh how they hide, hide from themselves oh how we chide, chide one another oh how we are no different ourselves (D, E)