I do ok

Day to day, i suppose i do ok
I rise with the sun, they say that i'm a lucky one
Knock on wood, i guess i should
Agree with them all
When they call me
A good man, a happy man
Oh i really like that guy dan
So i suppose i do ok
Or maybe not

But i have some questions, answer if you want to
Or don't, because they're not about you
And if you find me self absorbed or if i bring you down
If you'd rather see me smile than watch me when i frown
I don't care, i don't want to care
Anymore
Because i do ok, but i'm suffering when you're not around
My feet feel like they're sinking into the ground
My chest is heavy and i want to weep
Sinking ever further, deep
So ya, i suppose i do ok
But is that all we get?

Year to year, i suppose i do ok
I earn a living well, oh the stories i can tell
Blessings to count, blessings they mount
And i guess i should
Agree with you all
When you call me
A strong man, a righteous man, a loving man
Oh i want to be like that guy dan
So i suppose i do ok
Or maybe not

When i look back, at this life
You may say, hey, you did ok
And lying in my bed
Any moment i'll be dead
Will i say
Thank heaven they think i did ok
Or instead
Will i cry, for i never did truly fly

Who knows
But for now, i do ok
