I dont wanna waste a day

I dont wanna waste a day
Who knows how many more i have
Life's so fragile, i have learned
For futures sake i have so often yearned
And yet i am here to say
I dont wanna waste a day
Each time the sun sparkles high
I want to spread my wings and fly
And if instead the rain pours down
And rivers flood the streets in town
I want to dance and sing and pray
Exalting in that perfect gray
For i dont wanna waste a day
Not one more
