If i write it now

If i write this song now
The one that tells you how much i want to run
The one that says i'm just not having any fun
With words that need to be sung out loud
For all to hear
Will you understand
Will you smile and still take me by the hand
Will you laugh and joke as i move to a new land
A new land
If i write it now

If i write this song now
The one that you decipher is about the love we've lost
I know that writing such a tune can bring a heavy cost
But i'm exhausted
Tired of pretending that this life makes any sense
Hoping upon hope that there may be some kind of chance
For me to live another way
For me to wake another day
And say
Now this is a new thing
If i write it now

If i write this song now
Will i be alone
No place that i can call home
No dollars to my name
Trying not to feel such shame
And also thinking
This is such a game
Such a game
And Will you love me still
When this song is over and done
Over
If i write it now
