Into that chick

I am totally into that chick
And it makes no sense
There something in the biochemistry
Or maybe it's just my pretense
My desire to walk down the street
With a such a gorgeous gal
Of course as far as people go
I cringe at calling her a pal

She voted for Ronald Reagan
She thinks welfare is a crime
She has a million dollar trust fund
She won't give a panhandler a dime
She goes to church each Sunday
She drinks chilled white wine with ice
She doesn't like me to use profanity
She's actually not all that nice

And yet, I am totally into that chick
Making love with her's sublime
When I look into her eyes
My heart breaks out into rhyme
I become someone I do not know
A huge embarrassing lie
I cannot explain how and why this is happening
All logic it does defy because...
