Is it our job

Is it our job to change the world
The flag of peace to e'er unfurl
To take our brothers by the hand
To bring equality to this land

Or Is it our job to live and let live
To keep for ourselves and ne'er to give
To hide out amongst the evergreen tree
And worry not who is not free

I have no answer
I have no clue
It may be different for me and you

I know that for me the most important job i hold
Is to greet each day as it may unfold
And to accept with quiet the lot i'm sold
And if i may be so bold

To live and the to die
