It's not a secret

It's not a secret, it's true i hate you so
I know it's immature of me but i'll smile as you go
I am willing to admit that you're a victim of your past
But talking to you everyday leaves me aghast

It's not a secret, i think that you're insane
Some think that it's all an act but i know you cannot change
I am willing to admit that deep down it's not your fault
But the seething feeling that lives in my heart is something i cannot halt

It's not a secret, the lives that you've destroyed
If i told you all i thought you'd be a tad annoyed
You wouldn't feel a hint of guilt or a smidgen of remorse
You think everyone else's to blame, that's how you cope of course

It's not a secret, i've run out of things to say
The best thing i ever did was finally move away
I wish you well and truly hope you find some peace of mind
But i know to your illness you are terminally blind

It's no secret
It's no lie
Your existence
Truth defy
Your obsession
Is my curse
What you've taken
You can't reimburse
