

399-1000
It's not your life

Listen to the people who say they want to be alone
Who argue that they have a right to a life and to a home
Listen to them tell you that they always have a choice
That they may not be all powerful but that they have a voice

But i say
It's not your life
Your life belongs to something greater
I'm not talking about a creator
But something beautiful and bright
Something wonderful and wise
It's not your life

Those who claim to speak the truth
Those who say they have the power
Those who scan the heavens from
Their perch upon the highest tower

I hate to disabuse
I know you are confused
