Its time for sitting on porches

Its time for sitting on porches
It's time to feel the warmth of a summer breeze
Its time for sitting on porches
It's time to consider a life of ease
Watch the sweetgrass swaying
Breath in deep that sweet sweet smell
It's time for sitting on porches
Awaiting the ring of some distant dinner bell
It's time for AM radio
Iced tea jangling in my glass
It's time for sitting on porches
Soak up the slow, observing the fast
It's time to rock in a favorite chair
To listen to the peepers at dusk and dawn
Its time for sitting on porches
For someday the porches may all be gone
