I've cheated

I've cheated
I take no comfort in the fact that you have too
I've cheated
There's not much else i can say or do
Truth tellers
Tend to speak truth to all their former lies
I've cheated
Perhaps keeping my mouth shut would be more wise

I've conjured
Reality from falsehood many times
I've conjured
Reasons to defend all of my little crimes
Truth tellers
Feel that confession makes them better than most
I've conjured
And just watch me stand up in front of you and boast

I've wondered
Who in this world has never cheated or lied
I've wondered
All of the fake tears that so many have cried
Truth tellers
Weep not for the truth but instead for their shame
I've wondered
Why life for so many is simply a game

I've hated
Though my hatred no longer tears me apart
I've hated
It's my way to rationalize being so apart
Truth tellers
Lie about their ability to forgive
I've hated
And i will still hate as long as i live

Cheat conjure hate wonder
All souls torn asunder
Billions feeling so defeated
Billions feeling so cheated
