Love sick

If you look at me and tell me i'm no good
Because i see the world through a different lens that you
If you wave a flag of hate that strikes fear in my heart
Saying that i don't belong, calling me a jew
I will look you in the eye and watch my tears come hot
Not because i'm frightened or afraid of all your hate
But because i know that we could be the best of friends
If these false divisions we chose never to create
