May she find

May she find
Shelter from the storm
Each day that's she's reborn
And with love she will adorn
May she find

May she find
Peace of heart and mind
A lover who is kind
Though in her arms still unconfined
May she find

May she find
A truth that sets her free
The ability to just be
And the courage ne'er to flee
May she find

May she find
That her laughter and her tears
Overcome her fears
A belly's softness always near
May she find

May she find that life in all its confusion for her makes sense
May she build bridges and not hide behind her fence
May she be blessed with an optimist's open heart
And may when her time is over will she feel she's done her part

May she find
