

Maybe I'm Off Base (on this one)

Maybe i'm off base on this one
Perhaps i haven't got it right
It is possible my filters are on high
I do feel the powerful urge to fight
Maybe i'm off base on this one
My defensiveness is my red flag
Though to be honest i still think you're wrong
And On any apology i might gag

But maybe i'm just not seeing straight
Maybe The arousal has hijacked my brain
Tell me that i'm wrong but doesn't it seem Like everyone has gone fucking insane?
The right wing and the left wing
Unselfconscious battle in the street
The issues matter not anymore
Neither side will consider a retreat

The old white men listen to rush limbaugh
And they trust as true every word he speaks
Of course is scant evidence around
To back up any of his so-called beliefs
But the echo chamber of anger and hate
At least provides them with some hope
As everything else seems to fall down around
Hate and anger provide a useful way to cope

And the liberal left ain't much better
They are the picture of hypocrisy
On the one hand saying black lives matter
And that everyone should live free
But on the other they drive their cadillacs
And live in the their million dollar homes
Liberation ideology is nice and all
As long as it is limited to songs and poems

But maybe i'm off base this time
Maybe this is just how it's supposed to be
Perhaps Humans are evolutionarily programmed
To always lie where they shit and pee
Destroying everything around them
Because destruction is fun
But i am willing to entertain the thought
That maybe i'm wrong on this one
