

142-1000
No you don't

You say you love me
No you don't
You love an image
Accept you won't
My flaws and habits
You can't abide
You never even Really tried

You say you get it
You do not
Your fear of conflict
Lying caught
And then you're screaming
It's not my fault
That your deceits
You cannot halt

You say forever
That's a joke
Just watch our lives
Go up in smoke
A slave to impulse
A feelings whore
Your dishonest to the core

The truth of course is that you're no different than the rest
People think their feelings are the way that they should test
But Discerning fact from fiction is more difficult my friend
Trusting feelings is often the route to a bitter end