Now it's just funny

Now it's just funny how everything aches and creaks
I wake up in the morning checking for all those little tweaks
Not the ones that happened playing hoops or running hills
But the little strains and twinges that i get while standing still

Now it's just funny how my kids ignore my pleas
Soon all my daughter will ask for is a 20 and the keys
I text to say hello and all i get are iphone grunts
I try to be cute, but she rolls her eyes at my little daddy stunts

Now it's just funny that the nations supports trump
Even though he's no better than a steaming pile of dump
The people who adore him are all purgatory bound
But it still strikes me as funny how much lovin he has found

Now its just funny that i am writing one more song
I didn't think i'd get this far but my will is not that strong
I'm sure a day will come when i'll just up and forget
And i'll smash all my guitars and a fire i will set

And it'll be funny
It's all just funny
It'll be funny hahahahahahahahahahah
