Now, shouldn't I

I should do that now, shouldn't I
No better time for us to see eye to eye
If I wait it may give me time to concoct a lie
Now, shouldn't I

We should face that now, shouldn't we
In a week or two it may too hard to clearly see
At that point neither one of us will get away for free
Now shouldn't we

I should tell you now, should I not
You are smart enough to know I will soon be caught
For 6 years I have toiled, I have done a lot
Done a lot

Someday you will understand
I'm always a stranger in another's land
No need to strike up the band
Wherever I land
I'll be fine
Fine
Now, shouldn't I
