

174-1000

Oh i didn't say that

You looked at me with eyes laced with hate
You seemed to infer that my words had sealed my fate
I want to defend myself but to you there's no debate
But i didn't say that

You made your mind up before the truth was known
Someone told you i said those nasty things on the phone
But i wouldn't utter such even if i were alone
Oh i didn't say that

This is why i always fear the pulling of the rug
As if the world could read my mind, my brain was bugged
And now my very family won't even give me a hug
But i swear i didn't say that

Someone's lying
Someone's mad
My Reputations
All gone bad
Were i guilty
I'd own my shit
No more defending
Facades would quit
But i'm not guilty
The victim's me
Your killing lies
No one can see
And on whole life
Your venom spat
Because you know
I didn't say that