

400-1000
only enough

Life gives us, only enough
As much as we can handle and as much as we can take big words, easy from afar Spoken mostly to avoid discomfort, for your sake real is complex
And reality's a poker game in which we cannot bluff
And truth be known
Sometimes we are given far more than enough

That's what's true
All else is a lie
Spoken by those
Who dare not cry
Only enough
A quaint little saying
But this shit isn't neat
Your needs are betraying

Life often gives us far more than we take
But The men in the pulpit want us to pretend and fake They use our frailty and tell us it's god's will
That he has a plan, and that we can get our fill

Not so
Not true
Only enough
Said for you
I say
Just watch me bleed
More than enough
You may concede
