

353-1000
Remind them

I'll remind them
You do the same
But all those reminders
For those without shame
Mean quite little
They hunker down
They concenter themselves
All around
They reject the teaching
The truth they fear
They posit excuses
When things are so clear
And this the reminders
Mean little to those Whose map of existence
Is a false repose