

SO THERE THEY WERE

so there they were, they'd reached the end (E7) a marriage lost, no way to mend...no way to mend (E7, A, E7) all broken dreams, and misplaced lives so there they were, many they may not survive....they may not survive well the truth is they were never meant for each other (B, A) she wed her dad, he married his mother denial can be such a disastrous thing so there they were, it's time to melt down those rings so there they were, children in tow he'd lost his job, there was nowhere to go...there was nowhere to go bankruptcy looms, all savings spent foreclosed upon, well they can't even pay the rent...they can't pay the rent you know they visit friends, and eat their food they stay too long, they know it's rude they'd like to leave, they have no car his knees are shot, they can't walk far he often wonders how he ended up here 10 years ago he had such a great career he married her and it all fell apart it's not her fault, he just dreams of a new start
