

24-1000
sooner or later

sooner or later
the truth wins out you can lie and cover up create a world of doubt but in the end reality from the mire rises the narcissist's duplicity that everyone despises

this is a happy song if you really lean in when you understand that we're in this together there's no way to win this is a song about love love of all that is true so many needlessly suffering honest lives led by so few

sooner or later
it all falls apart
super glue cannot stem disintegrations start you can answer all the time that your life is like a dream but nightmares are the universal life affirming meme

sooner or later
your deathbed will call there's no way to slow the clock mortality to stall I beg you to accept your regrets no difference makes insuperable the end remains regardless of the stakes

sooner or later
we all surrender it's not so much a conscious thing ne'er works for the pretender eventually our will to hold tenacious to control dissolves in our exhaustion victory's elusive goal