The best gift

The best gift is the one wrapped in loving arms
You'll never find that present sitting neat under the tree
It's the gift that comes with tears that are borne of deepest care
It's the gift that you will find from my heart arrives to thee

The best gift is the phone call from an old dear friend
The one who tracked you down just to say how much they miss
The tenderness of time that you spent with one another
The tenderness that arrives with a gentle kiss

The best gift is the one when sincerity abounds
A conversation in which we all try to convey
That it doesn't matter if on stuff we disagree
It's just mutual respect that we are trying to convey

The best gift
The one that matters most
Comes wrapped in loving arms
With a gentle kiss
Always thus
