The strip mall

I am from new england where the blue blood flows like rain
Vermonters worth their weight in gold find the strip mall quite profane
I am a new englander but i must honestly admit
I'm happy at the strip mall, for me it's a nice fit

When i lived in texas i made fun of texans style
Quietly i luxuriated in the strip mall every mile
From starbucks to the jamba juice my every craving met
Today i hail the strip mall and i have no more regret

No more guilt and lying that i like my rural living
Fort worth strip mall hopping left me with no misgiving
If i were governor of this state i'd legalize the strip to all the hippie csa types my middle finger flip

All hail the strip mall
Greatness known to man
All hail consumerism
I'm your biggest fan
All hail the coffee
The smoothies and the shops
All hail the concrete jungle
Fuck the organic crops
