The things you see

The things you see just before the dawn
When sleep is heavy on your brow
The darkest moment of the day
This is when I want to say
How much i miss your smiles
The way you held me
And talked to me
And you would say
The things you see just before the dawn
May not be real
So do not feel
So alone
I'm coming home
And then
The things you see
Will surround me
Light
Just before the dawn
Light
And then time can finally stand still
And you will see me
