Time doesnt heal

Time doesnt heal
Perhaps it adds a callous
I intend no malice
This is simply how i feel
Because time doesn't heal
The sharpness of the blade
In times begins to fade
But still it dig in deep
Wakens me from my sleep
But i have promises to keep
And people tell me often
That with time my grief will soften
But my heart is open wide
And if you look inside
You'll see my pain is real
For time doesn't heal
It just creates a yearning
Through every season turning
And while the heat of all that burning
Is cooled by the water wheel
Time doesnt heal
Who said with time it ended
Has never through grief wended
A journey etched in steel
A shattering surreal
And time doesnt heal
It doesnt
