(You wanted to) tell me something

You wanted to tell me something
I could hear it in your voice
It wasn't what you did
But i could see you'd made a choice
Was it something i had said
Something i had done
Was it that i lived my life
Mostly on the run?

You wanted to tell me something
Well ok then i'm all ears
We've been together a long time
Survived these many years
But i can tell its' different now
Your eyes don't sparkle when
You see me coming up the drive
Though i remember when

You used to find my smile
Lit up your aching heart
You told me you would never
Want to be apart
But you want to tell me something
And your heart is on your sleeve
Truth is i know we're finished
I've already grieved

You wanted to tell me something
But clearly it pained you too
It's ok, i can tell
It's really nothing new
It's been building for some time
I guess it didn't want to admit
But you want to tell me now
That it's time for us to quit
