Walter

Walter is brash and rude and controlling
His ego-based boundaries he's ever patrolling
Walter is painful to hear and to see
I wonder if walter is somewhat like me

Maybe my view of walter's distorted
Maybe my view of myself too contorted
Or perhaps walter is just living a way
That helps him make sense of every day

Walter barks out orders and demands
Like chris walken in biloxi he errant commands
I think that i am more sentient than this
But maybe i am equally remiss

The difference is i act like i am kind
But maybe that's just how i want to be defined
And walter could pretty much not give a shit
He behaves however he quite sees fit

So i the end i find walter quite trying
But his genius may be that my act he ain't buying
And he is true to himself, and he will never falter
I guess that's the beauty of this fellow named walter
