Was this who you were looking for

Was this who you were looking for
Of course you do not know
It's often such a mystery
We may know someone's history
And still we choose to go
With them, to them

Was this who you were looking for
Of course you cannot see
You stare into a lover's eyes
And oh the irony
For now your heart is blown open wide
And all that love you have inside
And all the secrets you confide
And nothing left to show
And still we choose to go
With them, to them

Was this who you were looking for
When you decided to fall in love
You didn't need a helping hand
You didn't need a shove
Into the abyss
It only took one kiss
But quickly you found out there was nothing to say
And now together you muddle, day to day
Because your lust you did obey
It's all ok
All ok
And we will forever choose to go
With them, to them
