We're in this together

We're in this together
I've heard those words before people like to say this
When they crave an equal score
Their level of resentment
Is so high they do abhor
Anyone whose independence
Gnaws deep at their core

We're being collaborative
I've heard this claim as well
It's just another catch word
When we feel we need to sell
Another on their agency
When in fact the truth to tell
Is that they have no choice at all
This game is called the shell

We're working on our issues
Actually no we're not Until we work on ourselves first
Put our thinking on the spot
There is no we, just two I's
Awareness is all we've got
No wonder blaming's all the rage
Blind rage remains our lot

Until we work on ourselves first we never will be free
We'll point the finger at those who with us disagree
And to our grave we'll hold on tightly to our self-assured contention
We're in this together, what a phony dumb invention
