The wheels were spinning

The wheels were spinning
I could see that look in your eyes
These were the moments
When you could not compromise
These were the moments
When your reason fell to rage
It took a while for me
To finally turn the page

The wheels were spinning
I could see you calculate
You weren't listening to a thing i said
No need to debate
Your mind was made up
It was time for me to leave
I wasn't gone an hour
When you no longer grieved

The wheels were spinning
You contemplated deep
Should you cast me adrift
Or was i worth to keep
You gazed out the window
The hour was quite late
T'was then you shared that deep down
All you felt was hate

The wheels were spinning
Another get rich quick scheme
Didn't matter that such plans
Were really just a dream
You didn't have the ability
To work an honest day
And so the wheels kept spinning
And those wheels you must obey

Spinning wheels
Present never Satisfaction
Will you ever
Take a break
Cursed winning longing constant
When wheels are spinning
