Leaders

Why do leaders lead
What need is it they have to feed
Is it some sort of psychic greed?
Why do leaders lead

Why do we laud them so
Is there some subtext we ought to know
Do they stand tall mostly for show?
Why do we laud them so

Perhaps it's the followers who demand our respect
They are the ones who are more circumspect
They're not succumbing to some character defect
They are the people with whom we connect

The leaders are distant when they're not in charge
For them they are only content with egos enlarged
Hard to know exactly from what this might stem
But i should know, for i'm one of them
