You find the girl yet?

You find the girl yet?
The one of my dreams
I thought was my life
At least that's what it seems

When will you get married
It's time to settle down
Settling sounds like giving up
How do you like my frown

Will you give me grandbabies
To bounce upon my knee
When will you try to understand
I just want to be free

It's not my dilemma
That you need to validate
Your station with your friends and peers
I can't equivocate

In fact i'll do the opposite
Push back against your will
Been on it half a century
I'm fighting for me still

And when I awakened none of this was real
It never matters what i think or feel
And so i'll keep pretending, it's what i do the best
A hat a mask an image made, i'll ply it til i rest
