

199-1000
You're in a hurry

Sit for a while, take a load off
Where are going at this breakneck pace
Let's have some coffee, maybe go for a stroll
You always treat life like it's a race

Or maybe it's just when i see you
That you are quickly off to the next thing
And it seems this has become even worse
Since i gave you that wedding ring

You're in a hurry
I think it's about me
You're discontented
It's easy to see
When i say relax
That's when you flee
Perhaps it's because
You don't feel free

Is this just a pattern or have i done something wrong
Maybe you wanted to break up with me all along
You're clearly unhappy whenever we spend time alone
In fact you spend most of that time on the phone

I get the message loud and clear
The end for us is close i fear
And now i watch again as off your scurry
It's a bad sign when your wife's in a hurry
